

Dear Customer,

Choosing a freight forwarder is one of the most important decisions a company may be called upon to make. The choice can have widespread implications for short-term profitability and the long-term health of the entire business.

Before making that decision, you need to know all the of the credentials of the candidates, their capabilities, their history, their track record, and their approach to the needs of your business.

We at ARI Shipping Corporation have a simple philosophy that success is a product of competitive prices through a high standard of care and attention to detail.

Our record supports this outlook. From small beginnings, we have grown to become a significant force among independent freight forwarders.

We have done so by creating satisfied customers. Customers who recognize our regard for their interests to return again and again.

We would welcome the opportunity to demonstrate our effectiveness in action.

Sincerely yours,

Ilan G. Fidler
